President's Letter

Greetings everyone and welcome to May. I know I welcomed you to Spring last month but as I write this on Saturday morning, April 22nd, the snow is falling. I trust it will be short-lived however and accordingly I have lowered the top on our E-Type and do not intend to undertake the arduous task of raising it until at least October and hopefully November. In the mean time the details of our upcoming summer events are rapidly falling into place and will be here before you know it so let's get ready and go! The Spring Drive is a mere 3 weeks away on Saturday, May 20th (Thank you Chris, Bill and Betsy!). We will convene at King Soopers in the parking lot, 1173 Bergen Prky at 8:45/9:00, leaving at 9:30. from there we will go to Echo Lake for Champagne for Strawberries and then continue down to Idaho Springs for lunch at Beau Jo's and a tour of the Argo Mill gold mine. Should be a great day! You can check out the details in the April cat Tales.

The ACC Colorado Concours is Sunday, June 4th on the lawns at Arapahoe Community College. 2023 marks the 40th anniversary of Colorado's only nationally recognized Concours d'Elegance and RMJC has been a long time sponsor. ACC is one of our 2 "Designated Charities." This year will feature a special display of vehicles: "The Evolution of the Automobile" featuring vehicles spanning each decade from 1900 to 2010. We want to feature a large display of our own unique and beautiful Jaguars and you can register on line at coloradoconcours.org. If possible, you need to do so by May 10th, so please don't delay.

Don't forget our own RMJC JCNA sanctioned "Big Cats in RiNo" Concours takes place on June 24th at the Forney Museum in, you guessed it, the "RiNo" cultural district of Denver just north of downtown. Everyone loves seeing all the cars and your car doesn't have to be judged to be present and appreciated. Please consider registering your Jag and just putting it on "display" for all see and enjoy! Remember your registration fee includes admission to the Forney and North of the Border will have a food trailer on site serving both breakfast and lunch.

Hope to see everyone on Tuesday, May 9th, at the NY Deli!

"Remember I'm pulling for you. We're all in this together." - Red Green

Vince

Jaguar Confirms the F-Type Will Die after the 2024 Model Year

<https://www.caranddriver.com/news/a41587350/jaguar-f-type-dead-2024/>

Jaguar confirmed that 2024 will be the final model year for the F-type coupe and convertible.

Europe is getting a 75th anniversary edition to mark the end of the road, but information about a U.S. special edition isn't available yet. The F-type first arrived for the 2014 model year and received updates throughout its 10-year run.

Jaguar will soon be without a sports car, as the F-type will disappear after the 2024 model year. A 75th anniversary model (pictured at top) has now been released for Europe to commemorate the end of its production run, and a JLR spokesperson confirmed to C/D that the 2024 F-type will be the last for the U.S. market as well. We'll likely get some sort of final edition as well, but details aren't available quite yet.

The F-type first arrived for the 2014 model year and was initially available only as a convertible. The coupe went on sale afterwards, and both supercharged V-6 and V-8 engines were offered. A turbocharged four-cylinder joined the lineup later on, as did an optional manual transmission for the V-6, but most recently the F-type slimmed down to a V-8-only, auto-matic-only powertrain lineup. For 2023, the supercharged 5.0-liter V-8 is offered in 444-hp and 575-hp states of tune. Pricing ranges from $74,675 for the P450 coupe up to $112,475 for the R convertible.

The Europe-market 75th anniversary edition—this number denoting 75 years of Jaguar sports cars, since the XK120—features numerous appearance tweaks, a unique color, and special badging. The U.S. version may incorporate a similar look, but we don't have details on what the 2024 F-type lineup has in store for

Jaguar New for 2023

E-Pace

The lineup is simplified: One engine, the 2.0 turbo P250 at 246 horsepower. One trim E-Pace SE. The 300 Sport and the base model are discontinued.

Adaptive cruise control, automatic high beams, Blind Spot Assist, Rear Traffic Monitor, Navigation, a power liftgate, nineteen-inch wheels with 235/55R19 tires, and an automatic dimming driver's side mirror are now standard.

A Premium Black Pack includes gloss black badges, trim, side vents, 21-inch gloss black wheels, Adaptive Dynamics, an adaptive electronic suspension, and Configurable Dynamics, with driver adjustments for steering, throttle, transmission, and shocks.

The intermediate P340 3.0-liter engine is discontinued, leaving only the P250 246-horsepower 4-cylinder turbo, the P400 395-horsepower 6-cylinder turbo- and super-charged hybrid, and the super-charged V8 powered F-Pace SVR.

P250 models get larger front brake rotors: 14-inches.

Power-folding side mirrors and a power liftgate are now standard. Self-sealing tires are now standard on all but SVR, and a temporary spare is no longer standard, but an option.

Park Assist is no longer available on F-Pace S, only SVR.

To commemorate Jaguar's 24 Hours of Le Mans 1988 victory, 394 F-Pace SVR Edition 1988 models will be produced in purple and gold livery.

Jaguar Going Electric Only

By RAY MASSEY FOR THISISMONEY.CO.UK

PUBLISHED: 11:38 EDT, 19 April 2023 | UPDATED: 12:15 EDT, 19 April 2023

A jaw-dropping new electric Jaguar with 'wow' factor will spearhead the renaissance of the British mass luxury car maker, as part of a £15billion investment in Jaguar Land Rover's future.

No pictures have been revealed but bosses said the dramatic four-door grand tourer with a range of 430 miles will 'look like nothing else' and be the first of three all-electric Jaguars launched from 2024.

First customer deliveries will put the new Jag on the road from 2025, from which time Jaguar will be a totally electric 'reborn' brand.

The new Jaguar will be sold in special boutique salons and online but it won't come cheap, with a price tag set to start from £100,000.

Announcing the plan as part of a wider revival and transformation of JLR, the Midlands based company pledged: 'This cat is going to purr.'

Parent group JLR is investing £1billion to go back to the drawing board and revive Jaguar as a modern 21st century electric brand that will 'shock' and make waves.

This is part of £15billion investment - at the rate of £3billion a year over five years - as the company invests in the whole business, as the second stage of its 'reimagination' strategy.

As part of that Jaguar's sibling will controversially drop the Land Rover from the official names of its Defender, Discovery and Range Rover models, using it only as a so-called 'Trust Mark'.

The new electric Jaguar will be built at its vehicle plant in Solihull, near Birmingham, as a part of a wider shake up of production and factories.

Prototype models will commence testing on public roads later this year, though the vehicles will be heavily camouflaged so as to not reveal their design.

The comments came in a global briefing carried out at JLR's design and engineering HQ Gaydon Warwickshire, which the firm said stood proudly at the heart of 'Middle England' but exported to the world.

It comes after a troubled period for the upmarket British car maker owned by India's giant Tata industrial conglomerate.

Bosses apologised for a long period of silence on the matter but said they had been working quietly but busily behind the scenes and now had something concrete to shout about.

It also follows the surprise departure in November last year of previous CEO Thierry Bolloré after just two years in the top job.

JLR's new chief executive is Adrian Mardell, who today proclaimed to have worked for the British car maker for 32 years, five months and 14 days, said: 'This is also about the renaissance of Jaguar. It's personal. It's unfinished business.'

'Jaguar is going to be reborn. Our focus is now on delivery and execution.'

The move to 'pause' Jaguar for the last two years while attempting to reinvent it, was a brave - but necessary - move, he said.

Commenting on its new EV, Jaguar Land Rover's design chief, professor Gerry McGovern, said: 'It will knock the eyes out of your head when you see it.'

'The design brief was to create a car that will be jaw-dropping and make people say "Wow".'

And three cars chosen to spearhead Jaguar's renaissance have been whittled down from a total of 18 physical prototypes created by six rival design teams in an internal competition that had shades of the BBC's hit show, The Apprentice.

But in the end McGovern admitted: 'We knew instantly which were the three - and it was unanimous.'

He said the futuristic and modernist Jaguars would 'shock' but harked back spiritually to the sort of reaction created when the legendary Jaguar E-Type was launched in the 1960s and the XJS saloon in the 1970s.

'The new Jaguar will be fearless and progressive, exuberant, modern and unique. We should be proud of its Britishness,' McGovern added.

He said Jaguar founder Sir William Lyons had once said that Jaguars should be 'a copy of nothing' in their uniqueness, and this had been his guiding principle.

'When the E-Type was seen for the first time it looked like it had dropped out of space,' McGovern went on.

'The XJS caused a stir when it was launched. We'll do the same with our new Jaguars.'

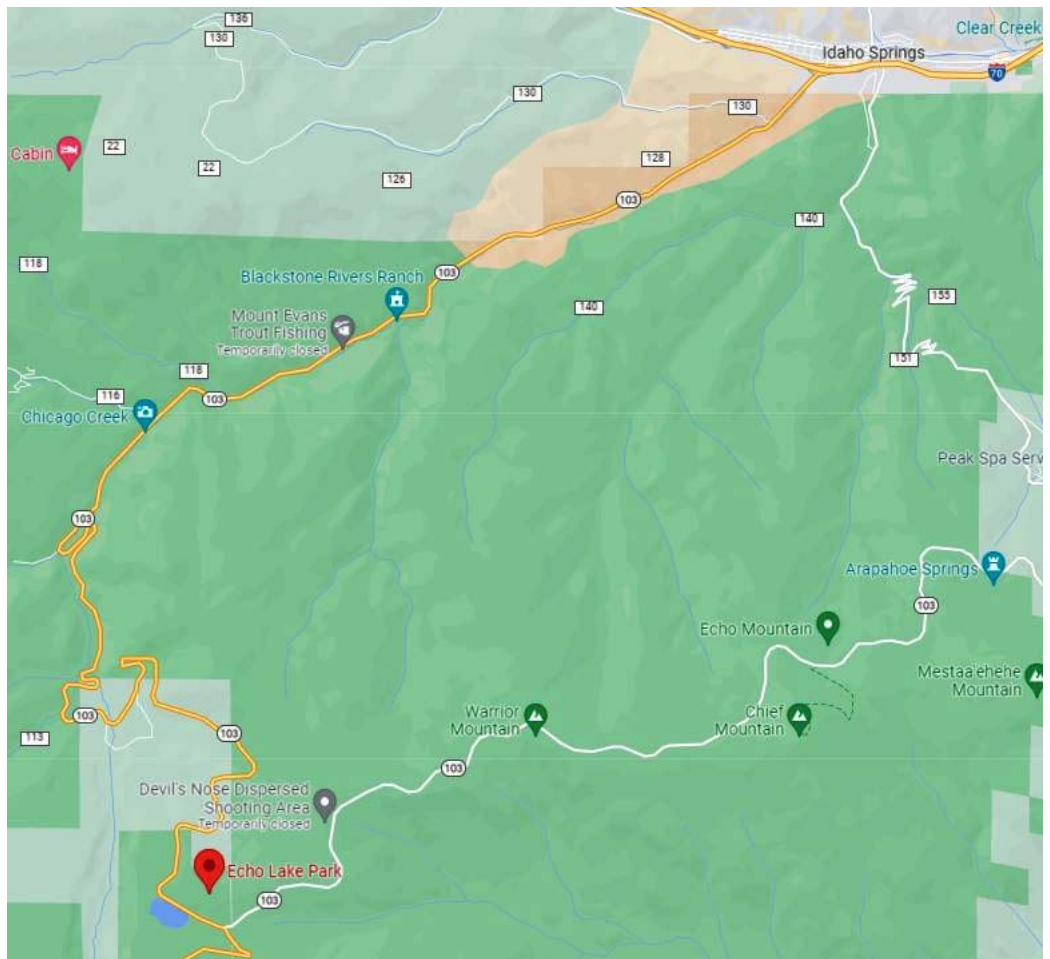

'Believe me, this brand will inspire like no other,' he concluded.

May 20th Spring Dust-Off

The RMJC Spring Dust-Off will be held on Saturday, May 20th. We will convene in the King Soopers parking lot, 1173 Bergen Prky. at 8:45/9:00, leaving at 9:30. From there, we'll take paved back roads up to Echo Lake, CO-103 & Mt. Evans Rd, for strawberries and Champagne, and then back down the mountain to Idaho Springs where we are tentatively planning a tour of the Argo Mill gold mine. This to be followed by lunch at Beau Jo's in Idaho Springs. We have considered a drive to the top of Mt. Evens but the likelihood of the road being open that early in the season is pretty slim.
