President's Letter

November and fall has fallen. My elm tree in the back yard has yielded 12 trash bags full of leaves. I have discovered a couple of tricks though. I mow the leaves with my rear bagger mower which chops them up and makes it easy to dump into a trash bag. The other trick is getting my wife Judy to hold the bag while I dump :) . The weather has been wonderful so far this fall and I've had the opportunity to get my XK8 out on the highway for an hour or two. Sadly it has developed a hitch in it's git along at speed. It acts like a misfire or possibly a fuel distribution issue. It maintains speed but is surging and is just not quite right. I plan to chase it this coming week now that the leafing chores are done. I want to thank all the board members and spouses for coming to the Estes house for the October board meeting. Judy was the one that put in the lion's share of the prep for the meal and snacks. I was mostly a grocery run errand boy.

The November club meeting is on the 10th at the Blue Bonnet. This is our election meeting. The members standing for office will be introduced and a vote will be held. Typically the vote is done by acclamation so no worries about having to do a mail in ballot :). The December board meeting will be at Steve and Deanie's house. Also an update on the Scottsdale Concour scheduled for November 15, it has been cancelled. Hopefully no one has made reservations. December 12th is the annual Christmas/Holiday Party which will be hosted by Steve and Deanie at their house. It's just nice to slow down and break bread with everyone.

I normally close with an amusing anecdote that I guess you might call "Travels with Tommy" but this go around I am going to digress a bit. The board members who came to our house a couple of weeks back may have noticed we only had one dog bothering you under the table, that being our corgi Lucy. Our other dog Sunny passed away a few days before the meeting and Judy and I are still grieving a bit so if you will permit me, this time I share a poem in her memory. I borrowed the idea of a poem from one I heard Jimmy Stewart tell on the Carson show many years ago.

Sunny D.

These days after being with us 15 years she never comes to us when we'd call.

But it's not because she disliked us, it's that she couldn't hear at all.

When she was young she never wanted to heel or sit or stay,

She did things her own way. Discipline was not her bag

She'd sit at the door and bark demanding a walk.

When the door opened a crack, she'd be way down the block.

And on evenings when Judy took her on the leash, she was always out first. I was slow to the door, because my bones are old and I'm sore.

She'd charge up the street with Mom hanging on, What a beautiful pair!

On early nights when the neighbors curtains were cracked they'd create quite a stir.

There'd be barking out every window from there to here.

Every now and then Sunny would stop in her tracks, with a frown on her face and look back, like she was making sure I was keeping up or on occasion just to sniff the street light poles for the Pee Mail the local mutts had left.

We're early-to-bed in our house – and in those later years she was always the first to retire.

If I'd leave the room she'd always get up from her place by the fire and follow Judy.

It's like she thought she might never come back or she was just wanting another snack.

She knew there was a food dish upstairs, and Judy would always give her a treat up there.

She demanded at least one meatball a night and after what seemed like forever she'd finally retire, on the floor in a corner with a paw under her head.

As I sit on the couch today I swear I could feel her stare, I wanted to reach out and gently stroke her hair and last night as I lay awake, I think I could feel Sunny's fear.

Of the dark, of end of life, of lots of thoughts we all might share,

Now she's gone to the rainbow bridge and last night I just wanted to feel her by my feet.

So I could tweak her ears, or stroke her hair, and now she's not there.

Oh, how I wish she was still here with Judy and me.

We will always miss that rescue dog we named Sunny D.

As always, I wish you all pleasant journeys on friendly roads,

An Unexpected Encounter

We recently returned from a trip to London where we enjoyed seeing the sights and taking in the local culture. One evening as we were on our way to the theater district to see the Phantom of the Opera, we found ourselves walking on the historic Pall Mall. We both happened to glance to our right and noticed a car in the lobby of a building. Our interest piqued, we entered the building to get a closer look. It was a very formal interior, and we asked the attendant in the entryway if we could approach the car to have a look. Well, he first had to have a look at us and literally looked us up and down then gave his approval for us to proceed. Our theater attire was our ticket in! Unknowingly, we had entered the Royal Automobile Club of London, where a featured car is on display for two weeks at a time. To our absolute delight, the car on display was a 1953 C-Type Jaguar! What a beauty she was. The plaque nearby described the vehicle's history and recent awards: "On display here is one of just 53 C-

-types built. The penultimate customer car, constructed alongside the 1953 Works racers, it was originally delivered to Norway in black. Not long after, it was raced in Finland, wearing the country's national blue and white colours...

Following Second in Class at the 2025 Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, the C-type returned to the UK for the Royal Automobile Club Concours. Displayed in the Woodcote Trophy category, it was awarded the coveted Best in Show." Additionally, a single emblem on the car also revealed its participation in the Colorado Grand 1000, of all events!

From the Editor

I use Microsoft PUBLISHER to lay up the newsletter. It is/was easier to use than Word because I can easily move things around. As of October 1, 2026, Microsoft is discontinuing the operation of Publisher without having come up with a replacement. For users who have Microsoft 365, which is an on-line use only, Publisher will be dead. I have Office 2021, which I legally purchased, and have on my computer, so hopefully, since I own it, I can continue to use it. Since they do not want to continue to support it, but if I can continue to use what I own, that will be terrific. As many of you know, most software updates make things work worse rather than better. So if they just leave me alone, yippy. If I have to go back to Word or find something else, the appearance of the newsletter will change.

Steve

SW Regional Director Position

RMJC club members, I have decided to run for South West Regional Director and I would appreciate everyone's vote. Ballots will go out in the November-December Jaguar Journal. EVERY-ONE's VOTE counts.

I have been a member of JCNA since 1985. During that time, I was 2008-2010 President of JCNA, JCNA Secretary 2010-2015, current JCNA Rule Book Editor, recipient of the Andrew Whyte and Fred Horner Awards. I was also president of the Rocky Mountain Jaguar club three times, and, as you know, am the current Rocky Mountain Jaguar Club newsletter editor and Chief Judge.

Things I would like to do for the South West regional clubs: I will be asking each club to send me a copy of their newsletter every month, then, once a month or so, I will distribute the newsletters that I receive to the other clubs in the region. I will also include a Regional Director's message to all clubs, letting them know what is happening in other clubs around the south west region.

Again, please be sure to vote when ballots are sent out.

Fall Drive

We had great weather and a great turnout for the Fall Drive. Ray Burnett and George deWalder put a wonderful route together. Unfortunately Ray's wife, Tami Mawhir, wound up in the hospital the day before the drive. There were 25 Jaguars and 40 members on the tour. There was everything from Herb and Kathy's XK 140, several E-Types on up to Jason and J Bechtel's 2024 F-Type.

We left the Ken Caryl area around 9 am and George lead the way to Conifer, then on to Deckers where we stopped for a potty break, then on to Woodland Park. Our lunch destination in Manitou at the Crystal Park Cantina, which was a fabulous place. We more than filled the place up. Thanks to Ray and George for a great tour.

Howard and Cyndi's Concours

Claire Eastman

October 10, 2026, Steve and Deanie took a trip down to see Howard and Cyndi for their concours. They held it in a park in downtown Sarasota, Florida. There was a great turn-out of around 40 some Jaguars. Even though it rained on and off that morning, the sun came out in the afternoon and everyone had fun. The score sheets got a bit wet and were hard to write on.

Their friend, Rania (pronounced Ronya) Bahdouchi, took these photos and they are greatly appreciated.

As some of you know, I am also working on a book about the 2007-2015 XK and the 2014-2024 F-Type. After we left Howard and Cyndi, we went to Long Island to see Rocco and his son, Daniel and their spectacular Jaguar collection. For those of you that remember the concours that Debbie did at the Adams County Fair Grounds, the light blue Project 7 race car that was there, now it is in Long Island. A big Thanks to Rocco and Daniel for sharing their beautiful Jaguars and letting me take pictures of them. Steve

New England Concours d'Elegance

On October 16-17, the weekend after Steve and Deanie were in Florida with Cyndi and Howard, they were invited to attend the New England Concours which was held in Farmington, CT, about 10 miles south west of Hartford. This was an elegant concours, similar to our Ability Connections Concours held at Arapahoe Community College, to benefit the Home Town Foundation. With their donations they purchase 35,000 turkeys and give them away to the needy in that area.

It was a cold and cloudy day, but at least it did not rain. There were around 300 concours cars on display.

Along with Hal, who Steve helps with the JCNA Rule Book, Steve judged several Jaguars and other British marques.

There was a wonderful XK 150, 1998 XJ black saloon, 1971 Series 1 XJ that was an original car.

On Saturday, October 24th, Tom, the Stevinson GM, invited the Jaguar club to their Ground Breaking ceremony. Their new building will be out at Denver West, just off of 6th Avenue and Indiana. There were lots of club Jaguars and Lakewood/Stevinson Jaguars and Land Rovers for the event. They hope to have the new building done sometime late next year. At the new location, they will carry both Jaguars and Land Rovers.
